

Troy, Michigan, September 9, 2011: Systems Technology Group, Inc. (STG) is pleased to announce that the Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education has selected STG as an IT Services Software Development & Systems Integration Services partner.

STG's past experience developing and managing information systems for various clients including the Michigan Department of Education, Minnesota Colleges and Universities and Grand Rapids Public Schools, continues to help STG win new clients in the education domain.

The Pennsylvania State System of Higher Education (PASSHE) is the largest provider of higher education in the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania and a large public university system in the United States. It is the tenth-largest university system in the United States and 43rd largest in the world. The system comprises 14 state-owned schools, all of which are NCAA Division II members by virtue of being members of the Pennsylvania State Athletic Conference.

PASSHE institutions are the only colleges and universities in Pennsylvania that are publicly owned and governed, but they are not the only ones that receive public funding.
